

SUSTAINABLE COTTENHAM Newsletter 2 : June 2020

We trust you and your families are keeping safe, well and hopefully able to enjoy some of the lockdown's spin-off benefits for sustainability – streets quiet and gardens busy with wildlife; our local food shops more valued than ever; home growing or home cooking; or the strength of community spirit shown by Cottenham's COVID support volunteers.

SusCott's regular activities sadly remain in abeyance for the time being.

* * * *

Plans for ECO EATS, our festival of planet-friendly food, have had to change. The Festival weekend of cooking and eating together, organised with our partners Cambridge Sustainable Food, has been postponed and will now be held during 2021. No need to wait until then – from this autumn we'll be joining with Cambridge Sustainable Food to promote online Eco Eats activities as part of their Food for our Future campaign. Look out for notices of cook-alongs, composting workshops, recipe sharing and more on our web or FaceBook pages. Remember at the end of the project there will be an Eco Eats recipe book and we'll be looking for your ideas, info and recipes to include.

* * * *

Film night THE STORY OF PLASTIC Friday 5 June – reminder.

There's still time to register to view this new documentary with a global perspective on 'Big Oil and Big Plastic'. Produced by the Break Free from Plastic movement; online screenings promoted by Surfers Against Sewage.

Register at: <https://www.sas.org.uk/storyofplastic/>
Once you've registered you'll be sent a link, valid for 48 hours, on the day of the screening.

Invite your friends. A must-watch for Plastic Free campaigners!

* * * *